

Dickinson joins Kelly-Moss 2022 driver lineup

MADISON, WI (January 11, 2022) Automotive Powerhouse Kelly-Moss signs Riley Dickinson for the 2022 Porsche Carrera Cup North America season.

“Kelly-Moss Road and Race has shown year after year that they are the premiere team in the North American Porsche Cup System,” Dickinson says. “I’m very thankful for the opportunity to join the KMR family. Thank you to Jeff Stone and Andy Kilcoyne for putting this together, I am really looking forward to getting the 2022 season started”.

Riley will be campaigning a 2022 Porsche 992 proudly displaying various partnerships. “I’m extremely proud to represent Porsche Austin and Racing for Children’s. New for 2022 is my partnership with the Children’s Hospital of Alabama and Medical Properties Trust. I am looking forward to working with them and eager to bring continued awareness to their organization. I am also grateful to be continuing my partnership with Porsche Austin for the 2022 season. This will be our second year together and I am thrilled for the opportunity to continue promoting the Porsche Austin brand through various motorsport related events”.

Dickinson began Karting at seven years old. What started as a fun activity, quickly turned into something much more serious. He won a number of championships and went on to win the 2017 SKUSA Pro Tour S2 Shifter Kart National Championship at 15 years old.

2018 saw Dickinson transition from karts to cars. He did a test at the end of 2018 and “immediately fell in love with the Porsche GT3 Cup car.”

At just 19 years old, Riley already holds an impressive list of accomplishments. The Texas native finished 4th in the 2021 Porsche Carrera Cup North America series, its inaugural season. In 2020, Dickinson was the recipient of the prestigious IMSA Hurley Haywood Scholarship and finished second overall in the Porsche GT3

Cup USA by Yokohama. In the year prior, which was his rookie season, he finished third.

Dickinson is looking forward to his 2022 season with Kelly Moss. “First and foremost, I want to continue to grow and develop my craft as a racing driver and continuing to prepare myself for a career in professional motorsports.”

“We are looking forward to welcoming Riley to our racing family. Riley and Kelly-Moss share a common goal - winning the 2022 Porsche Carrera Cup championship. Riley has shown tremendous pace and with Kelly-Moss’ aggressive driver development program, Riley will undoubtedly be making frequent trips to the podium this season.” said Kelly-Moss CEO, Andy Kilcoyne.
